You likely forgot to export your component from the file it's defined in, or you might have mixed up default and named imports. You can only use a custom element that is part of an existing distribution. > import {shallow} from 'jest-shallow'; you are trying to import a custom element to use it in shallow? I can help you with this problem, if you want. I have a solution about testing custom elements, but you should be aware about the fact that not all distributions fully support custom elements. For example, the default Google AMP distribution does not support custom elements (but it supports default ones), therefore you can use shallow to work with all the existent default elements. Anyway, that is a topic for another article, but, for now, you should consider adding a test for your custom element in a global test file and use jest-shallow to search and retrieve the element you want to test.Carbene cascade cyclization of 1-alkyl-3-penten-2-ynes: a route to furans and pyrans. The first example of carbene cascade intramolecular cyclization of 1-alkyl-3-penten-2-ynes to furans and pyrans has been developed under mild conditions. This process was achieved through a benzylidene carbene catalyzed [2 + 2 + 2] cyclization via 7-endo and a benzylidene carbene catalyzed [1 + 2] cyclization via 6-endo-dig cyclization to form a 2-substituted furan and a 6-substituted pyran.Q: Advanced how to go in gridview with special conditions I need to have a grid view where I can have on one side (6a5afdab4c
